M-Day Outlined At Convocation

A meeting of the S.S.M. was held Tuesday, May 5, in the Library-Museum Hall. President Bob Wylie, president, introduced the student body to the scheduled activities for M-Day. Mr. Banghart presented and explained the proposed schedule. The schedule was to be as follows:

8:00-Work crews meet and begin their individual jobs.
12:00-Lunch served by Coeds and Copper Guards. Elections from noon on.

Both Mr. Wylie and Mr. Banghart asked the students to refrain from damaging school property.

The candidates were as follows: Dick Vincelette, president; George Grandy, vice-president; Michael Maddocks, secretary-treasurer; and Gay Krawky and Richard Vlcek, delegates.

Both fraternities presented similar programs. They desire to improve student-administration relations, student-faculty relations, and, in general, to improve the general attitude of the student body.

Mr. Wylie then asked all students to turn out for the elections and to try to improve on last year's record 87 percent turnout. He especially urged the freshmen to vote as they and, sophomores to vote as they and, sophomores to vote as they

SC PRESENTS RECOMMENDATIONS

Tuesday, April 28, a student council meeting was held in the physics lecture room in the Petroleum Building. It was attended by both faculty and student members and was well attended. The meeting was well attended.

Extended school advertising was the first to receive attention. It was pointed out that the recent De Moley convention was not contacted by the faculty and that opportunities of this kind are constantly being bypassed. More care and consideration should go into personal contacts when representatives are sent to the high schools. It was suggested that to insures a representative with a genuine interest, only faculty members volunteering should be considered. Also it might help if they were accompanied by students or selected by the students. In addition the faculty meeting about the situation and realized that he is not the only department at MSM and should not "push" it exclusively.

In this connection the Chamber of Commerce has made it its intention of helping with MSM publicity.

Not to be overlooked is the possibility of help from the alumni. Large groups of the alumni should be organized and sent material, films, etc. which could be utilized at the high schools in the vicinity and sent out when requested. These groups could also have available information on scholarships, courses as well as catalogues. The alumni now has money to take tours for the purpose of boosting the school and a drive is being planned for more money. Some moves have already been made to test the success of this plan and is looking promising.

It was suggested that signs on the roads coming into town should be large and attractive---possibly a sign devoted to each department. This would increase the number of visitors.

EDITORIAL

It is often said that there is no "spirit" at the Montana School of Mines. In the opinion of this writer, that is not so. There are two very predominant spirits. One is "I don't give a damn," and the other is "Let Joe do it." As far as the first is concerned, there is no sense of pride and achievement, he is free to quit this "horrible" place and go somewhere else. At least, remember the old saying, "Don't plant trees, do something!"

...That's It To Print

It may seem a paradox in a land that boasts of freedom of the press, that any newspaper in the country that is not confronted with the problem of what to print and what not to print. Yet this very freedom is the basis of this writer's thought processes. Any control which is exercised in this direction should be motivated solely by what, is in good taste. And (2) my second question would be: "What is good publicity for the School?"

...I'll wish I'd kept my big mouth shut...

A prim, old lady Quaker was suddenly a heavy truck rammed the rear end. Infuriated, the lady driver. "What do you think I am, a stunt driver?"

...Fancy the usefulness of pop quizzes in the classroom...

It was pointed out that these are bad for the quality of sports to the extent that morale at the Mines would be boosted and that they would attend more of our athletic events.

Pop quizzes given after major school events were discussed. It was pointed out that they are bad for the morale and unnecessary. Several of the students grumbled that they felt that the time a person gets to college is not the time to sit down and let it stump him to plan his own studying time. This led to the questioning of the usefulness of pop quizzes in general. At this point the Dean of Mines spoke, and the faculty had given him reasons for the existence of this type of teaching tool because of its good qualities.

To avoid the conflicting of tests and projects in the school, we limit our major functions to the classroom in a single am, time and approach the subject by a single course of study. This latter concept brought to the fore was the condition of the washing machines at the dormitory. In addition it was suggested that an automatic dryer be installed for students for whom it is needed. Dryers and the washing machines are all in one room. A man may be deferred until the new student council is elected and the two will collaborate on it. As an after thought, announced major changes in the student council are in the agreement too.

...but on the same road without thought...

The speeding car veered off the road, hit a tree and was completely destroyed. "You said a mouthful." said the driver. "I wish you a happy New Year!"

Western Defeats Mines, 10-6, May 3

In the first game of a doubleheader on May 3, the Western Bulldogs defeated the Orediggers by a score of 10-6. This was a significant victory for the Western Bulldogs, who had won the previous week end when the Bulldogs beat the Mines by a score of 13-3.

The team looked much better than in their previous games. The Bulldogs won by a number of errors by the Orediggers in a display. The improved playing of the Miners continues, the team should be tough to beat in the playoffs for the championship over May 15. A Miner fielded the ball, and apparently tagged the runner trying for first base. The umpire ruled the runner was safe, and an argument ensued. While the players and the umpire were arguing, the runner scored from second base. The score was tied 10-10 at the time, and there were two outs in the last inning. The run counted, and Carroll won the game 11-10.

Coach Simonich said this was the best game of the year for the Orediggers up to this point. His team looked much improved over the two previous games. The main factor hurting the Orediggers' defense is poor fielding. The Miners collected a total of six errors during the game. The hitting is much improved, and in the strong part of the team so far.

Dick Crnich, one of last year's all-star Miners, collected eight hits. Van Dressel was the winning pitcher for Northern and Ken Erickson was the losing pitcher. The catchers were Mike Hendrick for the Mines and Boley for the Lights.

The winning run was scored because of a mental lapse. On the first play, the runner was safe, and an argument ensued. The improved playing of the Miners is strong point for the Miners. A Saint ruled the batter out on a sacrifice hit, and an argument ensued. The improved playing of the Miners is strong point for the Miners. Joe sat beside his dying partner, keeping the deathbed watch. Suddenly the dying man began to speak.

"Joe," he whispered, "I have a confession to make to you. I robbed George who? asked the clerk."

"George who?" asked the clerk.

"George who?" replied the drunk.

"That's okay, old man," I murmured. "I'm the one who poisoned you."

Pat Boone: "Is what order were your children born?"

Dennis Day: "The oldest one came first."

Victor Borge (at the end of TV show): "I would like to thank my mother and father for making this show possible, and my five children for making it necessary."

Then there was the old rooster who was so lazy he wouldn't crow. He just stood around until another rooster crowed and then flapped his wings.

To hell with the expense. Give me my five children and a place to live and I'll be satisfied.

SUB is Progressing

Work on the Student Union is progressing as scheduled. Resolutions are to be submitted to the Board of Education on May 12. The resolutions provide for interim financing and the authority for the Board of Examiners to operate the union. It is being done this way to save time, as the Board of Examiners meets more frequently than does the Board of Education. If approved, the bids will be advertised May 12, 19 and 26 and opened on May 27. Also the Bond Council has submitted a tentative draft of bond indenture.

Mineral Club News

The Mineral Club went on another interesting field trip last May 3. This time the group of 10 men and three coeds, went to Silver Lake in search of scheelite reported to be in that vicinity. After successfully finding and gathering some interesting scheelite specimens, the group proceeded on to the lovely old mining town of Philp, from Philp, the inverted rock buildings returned to the historic and practically deserted old gold camp of Southern Cross. Southern Cross was once a busy and prosperous gold mining camp and much remains to remind one of its past glory. The group came back to Butte with a lot of good memories and rocks to show for their well spent time.

A future trip is planned to Saphire Gulch to search for, naturally, sapphire.
