MAGNITY YOUR MAGNAMITY.

JOIN MAGNAMITY.

This year, as in the past, the Magnamity Award for the best 'book ever produced at MSM. (Pardon the ambiguity, but last year's co-winner had a book that was the best). At any rate, to make this edition fair to both the writer and the literary genius requires the undertaking of a real chore, a chore that will voluntarily contribute their time and effort for the sake of a cause that is bound to reap immeasurable personal satisfaction.

At this time, the Magnamity staff is only partially filled; editorships and other prestige positions are open to all students who desire a heady sense of power. The staff will not begin full-scale operation until next semester in order to attract the faint-hearted who might be obligated to do some intensive studying for semester exams.

Only those persons fully qualified will be permitted to carry the privilege of a position. Applicants must possess high moral and personal standards in addition to certain academic requirements. Some qualifications may be recommended, but an applicant must be a student of the Montana School of Mines. No professional, scholastic, or com- petitive staff member must have a 'type of average less than 2.00. (Certain exceptions will be made for this provision). (3) The applicant must be a registered student, no restrictions regarding sex. (4) The applicant must be male or female.

If you feel that you can meet the above qualifications and contact the editor, Lou Fischer, at the earliest possible date, you should consider your application.

Debate Squad Attends Treasure State Meet

By Earl Stroud

The Student Debate Squad were the MSM participants in the Treasure State Forensics Tournament held at Missoula State College on Saturday, November 20th.

Approximately thirty schools participated, with nine schools scheduled a full round of events, including debate, original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and oral interpretation.

Winners in the debate league were Montana State College in first place and Idaho State College in second place, with the Squaw Valley School being awarded Saturday at noon.

Degree Mills Are Being Criticized

Higher education may be obtained in the United States in a variety of degree granting institutions. Some higher education involves resident instruction at a college or university while others involve the teaching of a degree at the degree granting institution. However, higher education also includes the teaching of other types of institutions, some of which provide residence, others of which offer instruction on a correspondence basis. Many of these schools offer adult education or self-improvement courses in addition to degree courses. Whatever the type of institution, if it offers completion of the requirements for a degree, it is the function of higher education to give recognition to the completion of the requirements for a degree.

Section 1. Declaration of Policy.

It is the policy of this state to pro- vide for recognition by it of those degree granting institutions which can be justified on the basis of their educational qualifications or on the basis of their educational qualifications or on the basis of their educational qualifications.

Coffee is the life blood of the college student. The engineering student, busy scuffing along; the general student drinks it for pleasure and to pass away the spare time. Coffee is the primary reason that some students are able to stay awake through some of their eight o'clock classes. It is the reason that the students in fact, the prospect of the new and dawning day does not commit the suicide he contemplates. It's the reason most students get up to go to breakfast at all.

One thing is certain: the student doesn't get it at the coffee shop. Ironies as it seems, coffee is very seldom perked up by the genuine. This is a pity, and one would hope to see it corrected soon even later. What is the reason for this criminal-like behavior of the coffee shop proprietors, the co-ops? From all angles, it would appear that coffee is not getting up early enough, and that upon getting up and to make sure to drink coffee at a rate of approximately three cups per hour. To satisfy this "monkey" they carry upon their backs, the instructors keep their offices full and hot. But what does the student do for his after-breakfast energy鲫? What were to be his sources of energy?

The problem is before us; what can be done to solve it? First, if someone were to make for the coops in the morning, perhaps they would be sufficiently motivated to keep open earlier, for the student body. Certainly opening the co-ops are not getting up early enough, and that upon getting up and to make sure to drink coffee at a rate of approximately three cups per hour. To satisfy this "monkey" they carry upon their backs, the instructors keep their offices full and hot. But what does the student do for his after-breakfast energy鲫? What were to be his sources of energy?

Hoosters Continue Intramural Program

The Intramural basketball league is well underway and now has regained momentum. After Christmas vacation, the league is well balanced. After four weeks of play there are still six undefeated teams with the top four teams leading in 4 wins each and only one loss. Here are the teams rosters and the league standings up to January 5th.

Sheridan Sweeps Series With Orediggers

The Sheridan College Generals made a clean sweep of their four conference games with the Montana School of Mines Orediggers by defeating them in Sheridan, Wyoming on December 17th and 18th by scores of 82-62 and 70-55. The first game was very exciting as the score indicates with the Orediggers playing one of their best pre-conference games. The Sheridan Generals jumped out to a quick 14-6 lead, but the determined Orediggers cut the lead down and at one point, but the determined Oredigger's efforts proved insufficient as the Bulldogs went on to victory.

The Orediggers off-scored the Generals from the field 22-22 but were defeated at the free throw line. Sheridan College converted just over 64% of the free throw attempts while the Orediggers only made 19 out of 24 tries.

Bill Thompson was the high scorer for the Orediggers with 16 points. Harlan Higginbotham added 15 points. Toujour l’amour—Rules to Make Your Dating Season Successful

Many a well-chosen word has been spoken by the great lovers of the centuries regarding the subject of romance. But all too often these illustrious Casanovas have disregarded the preliminary aspects, namely, dating. However, as you read the following advice, please keep in mind that the author is merely as impartial observer.

Fellas, to make your dating season successful, you must know what impresses a girl.

1. A girl like to be treated like she’s important. For instance, never open the car door for her and then climb in and slide over to the driver’s side before she gets in.

2. Be a brilliant conversationalist. Show her that you know what’s what. If you can quote Einstein’s theories at the drop of a hat, try some of those. “Did you know that U235 can be separated from U238 by diffusion?”

3. Perhaps most important of all, a girl likes to be taken to nice places, such as the Country Club, the movies, etc. She doesn’t expect to be shown the most expensive evening. But under no circumstances take her on a tour of the diesel shop.

Boys, if after a free trial period, you are not completely satisfied with the results, you may trade your role as a lover for one as a fighter. Good luck.
