Heater Picked By Cardinals

by Fred Cragw ich

Don Heater, Tech All American tailback, recently signed a multi-year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football Conference. The terms of the contract were not disclosed.

While at Tech, Heater set an NCAA mark of 1,573 yards rushing in a single season. His number, 44, has been permanently retired in commemoration of his talent and dedication.

The Cardinals already have a good pair of running backs in MacArthur Lane and Ed Edwards, and their number one draft choice, Bobby Moore of Oregon State, is a speedster. However, no one will be surprised if Heater sees plenty of action even in his first year. He was the Cardinal's sixth draft choice.

L. personally, am looking forward to his first TV appearance, "Hi, I'm Don Heater. This is my favorite kind of blade.

Bos bard Reads Technical Paper

Participating in the annual Industrial Ventilation Conference at Michigan State University in Lansing is Floyd C. Bos bard, associate professor of engineering science and head of the environmental engineering department at Montana Tech.

Bos bard is attending the convention, which runs February 13-18, by invitation as a lecturer and instructor. He presented to the conference a technical paper entitled "Underground Mine Heat Sources" and is instructing in phases of the industrial ventilation program.

Scholarships Want You

No moe no go? Such a shame, and you're so bright. In fact, you might be bright enough to qualify for a scholarship.

But hurry, deadline for applications is March 1, 1972. Scholarship funds are available from the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Society of America.

The meeting, which was held in Las Vegas, was attended by about 500 mathematicians from throughout the United States.

Station Named KTEK at Tech

by Gordon Crawford

"This is station KTEK, voice of Montana Tech," will resound through the Butte Valley next fall as Tech's radio station goes on the air.

Over seventy entries were received in the "Name Your Station" contest, held just prior to the semester break to determine the station's call letters. Some were good, some bad, some funny, some serious, some obscene, some clean. After reviewing all entries, it was unanimously decided that KTEK filled the bill most exactly. Due to over ten entries of this combination, the winner(s) are (are) Sue Brady and Lorraine Corra (entered cooperatively).

To give an idea of some of the entries were like, here are a few (Note: Some names have been changed to protect the guilty):

Ali T. Dabbash-KOSE
Robert Wiley-KOMR
Ira Bigot-KKK?
Jim Williams-KOPN

Council News And Dues

The Student Council, at the meeting of February 14, appropriated a total of $614 to the Handball Club and to the Student Council.

The Handball Club was given $114 which was requested to pay for travel and other expenses incurred in traveling two players to the upcoming tournament in Pullman, Washington.

The other $500 was appropriated to Mrs. Alt's speech team to cover unforeseen expenditures in traveling to speech meet.

Results of the rap session ballot were discussed. Votes were two to one in favor of supporting the Halfway House Committee proposed by Mr. Milton. An official vote will be taken.

A petition will be started to get rid of the stop signs at the corner of Park and Emmett as a result of the poll.

A committee to plan D-Day activities was formed consisting of Ken Latsch, Darrel Metz, John Likarish and Joe Holland.

Proposal to give married students, both of whom are attending Tech, the option of buying only one yearbook was postponed pending the justices' interpretation of the constitution.

Dr. Poole At AMS

Representing Montana Tech at last month's joint annual meeting of the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Society of America was Dr. Michael Poole, assistant professor of mathematics.

The meeting, which was held in Las Vegas, was attended by about 500 mathematicians from throughout the United States.

"All The News That Prints To Fit"
Bloody Mary

This is as close as I'll write to Valentine's Day (I omitted "Saint" because I'm not sure who was axed at the last ecumenical. I think St. Nick was demoted so Mr. Valentine may be crossed out, too). Yet I want to commemorate the day, even if it is after the fact.

Fancy, frilly gotta have a gimme words of love. Hearts and cupids, caught in the religious vacuum between Christmas and Easter, flourish in stores and on walls and maybe even in spirit. Everyone old enough and young enough is held at the whim of Eros (from Aphrodite, not Freud). And maybe the pickings pick-up for the cruisers and walkers and maybe a few more rings choke the staunchest chauvinists to their knees.

A wonderful day. Full of flirting without being lewd and lewdness without filth. The whole entity of love is cheered by the harmless antics of infatuation and even blatant affectation is looked upon benignly.

Let the world blow itself to hell or heaven or just infinite nothing. All the kissy-facing everywhere won't make us love each other except in spirit. Everyone old enough and young enough is held at the whim of Eros. This is as close as I'll write to Valentine's Day (I omit-]

Tales, Tributes and Tears

Dear Editor:

With due respect for the current administration and the austerity program we are on, I fail to see the necessity of a P.R. man, who has made little attempt to publicize anything else than our football and basketball teams.

Last week the official unveiling of William Lear's steam car in Reno, would have been the ideal item if the national news cast had been followed up by the local item that the very same William Lear will be speaker at Montana Tech's Engineering Days. The more I see of this P.R. man the more I feel that he was short-changed in that piece of sheepskin which entitles him to almost a third more of the legal tender on which most of the recent faculty (no matter what degree they hold) are forced to cash in.

In any case, since the drop in enrollment means severe cut back in operating funds, I feel we should cut out the frosting rather than take out parts of the ingredients of the cake.

Shoup Visits Tech Students

Representative Dick Shoup (Rep. Mont.) met with student body president Joe Holland and six other members of Montana Tech's student body last month.

The meeting went smoothly until one member of the student body committee complained that the discussion was irrelevant to Tech. Maybe so, Shoup agreed, but most of the other students would just as well talk about drugs, pollution, general education and, after a little steering by Representative Shoup's publicity man, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, ("He's an honest man... with a big mouth," said Rep. Shoup. But he would support him, anyway.)

The crisis in topics resolved, and most of the committee happy and silent, or bored and silent, or confused and silent, the meeting was adjourned.

Optometry Scholarship

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Montana Optometric Association is pleased to announce a scholarship grant to worthy students who wish to study the profession of Optometry. This Auxiliary Scholarship is available this year (1972) and is in the amount of two hundred fifty dollars. Plus an additional amount to be given by most Optometry Schools. Full particulars are given by the scholarship committee on campus, please see Dr. Goebel if interested.

Let's Be Practical

The goal in water pollution control should be to insure a wide range of beneficial uses and values of our water resources for the greatest benefit of the American people.

It would be unrealistic to aim the nation's water pollution control efforts at the achievement of absolutely pure water. Such a drastic step is neither necessary nor desirable.

Our national manufacturing operations discharge more than 14 trillion gallons of water per year. If these 14 trillion gallons had to be upgraded from river water to "pure" water of some degree, it could cost anywhere from $7 billion per year to $7 trillion per year, depending on the "purity" required.

Let's be practical.

MONTANA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Date Reported: February 10, 1972

BILL OF RIGHTS - ROUGH DRAFT

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

Section 1. POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY. All political power lies with the people and comes from the people. Governmental authority is derived from the consent of the governed.

Section 2. SELF-GOVERNMENT. The people of the state have the exclusive right and duty of governing themselves, as a free, sovereign, and independent state. They may alter and abolish their constitution and form of government, whenever they shall judge it necessary for their safety and happiness, provided such change be not repugnant to the constitution of the United States.

Section 3. INalienable Rights. All persons are born free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights which include the right of enjoying life and its necessities, defending, acquiring, and protecting property and seeking safety, health, and happiness in all lawful ways. In accepting these rights, the people recognize corresponding responsibilities.

Section 4. INDIVIDUAL DIGNITY. The dignity of the human being is inviolable. No person shall be denuded of the essential attributes of human rights and freedom. The state shall be held responsible against the exercise of his private or political rights, including, but not limited to the choice of housing or conditions of employment on account of race, color, sex, culture, social, ethnic, or religious groups, or for the expression of any opinions, ideas, by any person, firm, corporation, or institution; or by the state or any agency or subdivision of the state.

Section 5. FREEDOM OF RELIGION. The state of Montana shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.

Section 6. FREEDOM OF ASSEMBLY. The people shall have the right peaceably to assemble for the purpose of petitioning for redress or protest governmental action.

Section 7. FREEDOM OF SPEECH. No law shall be passed impairing the freedom of speech and expression; every person may speak or publish freely, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. In trials for libel or slander, the truth, when published or spoken with good motives and for justifiable ends, shall be sufficient defense.

Section 8. RIGHT OF PARTICIPATION. The public has the right to be informed regarding every issue of public concern and to have the opportunity for citizen participation in the operation of the government prior to final decision.

Section 9. RIGHT TO KNOW. No person shall be deprived of the right to examine documents or to observe the actions and deliberations of public officials or agencies of state government and its subdivisions in cases in which the demand of individual privacy exceeds the merits of public disclosure.

Section 10. RIGHT OF PRIVACY. The right of privacy is essential to the well-being of a free society and shall not be infringed without the showing of a compelling state interest.

Section 11. SEARCHES, SEIZURES AND INTERCEPTIONS OF COMMUNICATIONS. The people shall be secure in their persons, papers, houses, and effects, from unreasonable searches and seizures, invasions of privacy, and no warrant to search any place, utilize electronic or other means of communication or other communications, or seize any person or thing shall issue without describing the place to be searched, or the person or thing to be seized, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, reduced to writing. Any interception of private communication must be authorized by a court of record.

Section 12. RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS. The right of any person to keep or bear arms in defense of his own home, person, and property, or in aid of the civil power when thereto legally summoned, shall not be called in question, but nothing herein contained shall be held to permit the carrying of concealed weapons.

Section 14. RIGHT TO A HIGH QUALITY ENVIRONMENT. It shall be the obligation of all parties, governmental or private, to maintain and enhance a high quality environment for the public benefit. Such obligation shall apply to all aspects of environmental quality including, but not limited to, air, water, land, and forests. The legislature must implement effective enforcement of this basic environmental right.

Section 15. RIGHTS OF PERSONS UNDER THE AGE OF MAJORITY. Those under the age of majority are persons for whose persons the right to attain their full potential, to maintain and enhance a high quality environment for the public benefit. Such obligation shall apply to all aspects of environmental quality including, but not limited to, air, water, land, and forests. The legislature must implement effective enforcement of this basic environmental right.

Section 16. THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE. Courts of justice shall be open to every person, and a speedy remedy afforded for every injury of person, property, or character, no person shall be denied that remedy for which he incurred in employment for which another person may be liable except as to fellow employees of his immediate employer who hired him if such immediate employer provides coverage under the Worker's Compensation Laws of this state; and that right and justice shall be administered without sale, denial, or delay.

Section 17. DUE PROCESS OF LAW. No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

Section 18. HABEAS CORPUS. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall never be suspended, unless, in case of rebellion, or invasion, the public safety requires it.

Section 19. INITIATION OF PROCEEDINGS. Criminal offenses of which courts inferior to the district courts have jurisdiction shall be prosecuted by complaint. All criminal actions in district court, except those on appeal, shall be prosecuted by information. Examination and trial shall be conducted by a magistrate, or after leave granted by the court, or shall be prosecuted by indictment without such examination or commitment, or without such leave of the court. A grand jury shall consist of seven persons, of whom five must concur to find an indictment.

A grand jury shall only be drawn and summoned when the district judge shall, in his discretion, consider it necessary, and shall so order.

Section 20. BAIL. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, when the proof is evidence or the presumption great.

Section 21. EXCESSIVE SANCTIONS. Excessive bail shall not be required of any accused persons, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Section 22. DETENTION. No person shall be imprisoned for the purpose of securing his testimony in any criminal proceeding longer than may be reasonably necessary in order to give security. If he can give security for his appearance at the time of trial, he shall be discharged upon giving the same; if he cannot give security, his deposition shall be taken in the manner prescribed by law, and in the presence of the accused and his counsel, or without their presence, if they shall fail to attend the examination after reasonable notice of the time and place of the examination and trial. This section may be received as evidence on the trial, if the witness shall be dead or absent from the state.

Section 23. RIGHTS OF THE ACCUSED. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have the right to appear in person, to have the assistance of counsel, to claim the nature and cause of the accusation; to meet the witnesses against him face to face; to have process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, subject to the right of the state to have a change of venue for the peace of the state, or the suppression of domestic violence, except upon the application of the legislative assembly or of the governor when the legislative assembly cannot be convened.

Section 24. SELF-INCRIMINATION AND DOUBLE JEOPARDY. No person shall be compelled to testify against himself, in a criminal proceeding, nor shall any person be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense.

Section 25. THE DISTRICT COURT. In all matters of trial by jury the trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate, but in all civil cases and in all criminal cases not amounting to felony, upon default of appearance, or by consent of the parties expressed in such manner as the law may prescribe, a trial by jury may be waived, or a trial by any lesser number of jurors than the number provided by law. In all civil actions the jury may render a verdict, and such verdict so rendered shall have the same force and effect as if all such jury concurred therein. In all criminal actions the jury shall render a verdict.

Section 26. IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT. No person shall be imprisoned for debt except in the manner prescribed by law, upon refusal to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, or in cases of tort, where his conduct is such as to justify a conviction of negligence.

Section 27. RIGHTS OF THE CONVICTED. Laws for the punishment of crime shall be founded on the principles of reformation and prevention, and full rights shall be automatically restored upon termination of sentence supervised for any person against the state.

Section 28. EMINENT DOMAIN. Private property shall not be taken, damaged, or the use thereof prevented for public use without the prior payment of just compensation to the full extent of the loss. Prior to the condemnation, the individual shall have the right to a judicial determination of whether the contemplated use is necessary and a public use.

Section 29. TREASON AND DESCENT OF ESTATES. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort; no person shall be convicted of treason except on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on his confession in open court; no person shall be convicted of felony by the legislative assembly; no conviction shall create the loss of property to the relatives or heirs of the convicted. The estates of those who descend or vest as in cases of natural death.

Section 30. EX POST FACTO, OBLIGATION OF CONTRACTS, CONCEITIOUS PRIVILEGES. No ex post facto law nor law impairing the obligation of contracts, or making any irrevocable grant of special privileges, franchises, or immunities, shall be passed by the legislative assembly.

Section 31. CIVILIAN CONTROL OF THE MILITARY. The military shall always be in strict subordination to the civil power; no soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, except in the manner prescribed by law.

Section 32. IMPORTATION OF ARMED PERSONS. No armed person or persons or armed body of men shall be brought into this state for the purpose of the peace, or the suppression of domestic violence, except by the legislative assembly or of the governor when the legislative assembly cannot be convened.

Section 33. UNENUMERATED RIGHTS. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny, impair, or disparage any other rights retained by the people.

Section 34. NON-IMMUNITY FROM SUIT. The state and its subdivisions shall have no special immunity from suit.

Section 35. ADULT RIGHTS. Persons eighteen (18) years of age are declared to be adults for all purposes and shall have the right to hold any public office in the state.

Summer Work in Europe

A summer job in Europe is available to any college student supported. Some of these summer jobs in Europe pay a standard wage—and most also provide free room and board. Participants on the program can earn more than enough to cover the cost of a round-trip youth fare ticket to Europe, plus the cost of living, and around Europe before returning home.

Thousands of paying student jobs are listed on the websites of travel agencies, resorts, hotels, offices, shops, restaurants, factories, hospitals, and on farms and construction sites. Most of these are located in Switzerland, Germany, France, England, and Spain, but other jobs are available in other countries.

The Student Overseas Services (SOS), a Luxembourg student organization, will obtain a job, work permit, visa, and any other necessary working papers for any American college student who applies. Applications should be submitted early enough to allow the SOS to secure the necessary working papers before the student is able to work permitted and other necessary working papers.

Interested students may obtain application forms, job listings, and information on the SOS Handbook on early job opportunities. Send by mailing their home address, educational institution and $1 (for address, handling and postage) to SOS-USA, Box 5173, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93108.

Patrick Stars in Big Win

Saint Patrick is the new pion saint of Montana Tech. Glenn Patrick, that is, 69, sophomore from Havre, Montana. Although seeing action in his previous position previously, Glenn was ready on Friday, Feb. 4, at the Butte Civic Center, which is a victory for Montana Tech, who also got an exciting 106-102 victory over their arch rivals from the capital city.

Don Cheney, now playing significant roles as a post, while Ackerman and Weigel continue to play brilliantly, if occasionally errantly, is the head coach. Goodman, of course, remains the team's most dependable rebounder. With Chuck Myers at center, Paul Pryde at wing, and Stevens, and Jeff Kline, Tech has more strength than ever before.

The victory over Carroll gave Tech a 10-10 season mark and its first conference win at home in fourteen years.

NASPW Wants You

Young people have a right and a responsibility to participate in all public and private decision - making processes which affect their lives. This unequivocal conclusion was set forth in a Position Statement just released by The National Assembly for Social Policy and Development, an organization of individuals and organizations created to develop and promote policies and programs essential to the social, physical and mental health and unity of the nation. The statement continues: "All people in the establishment of relevant educational standards and curricula, and in establishing rules and regulations for other situations where they are primary participants, was a key point of the statement. The selection among alternative lifestyles is a decision the individual has the right to make and should be supported in his participation in decision-making by young people who are non-colonialists."

The Position Statement called for leadership at the Federal level in articulating policies as it relates to new ideas, youth in leadership roles, and the expansion of the voting franchise of 18-year-olds, and provisions for every state legislature to establish an official age of majority.
